

[54] DOUBLE SHOULDERED GUITAR STRAP

[76] Inventor: Hugh C. McIntosh, 4338 Coronado Ave., San Diego, Calif. 92107

[21] Appl. No.: 73,421

[22] Filed: Sep. 7, 1979

[51] Int. Cl.³ A45F 5/00

[52] U.S. Cl. 224/258; 224/910; 224/259

[58] Field of Search 224/209, 208, 215, 257, 224/259, 910, 258

[56] References Cited

U.S. PATENT DOCUMENTS

860,794	7/1907	Felts	224/259
2,996,228	8/1961	Bauman	224/259 X
3,152,738	10/1964	Worsfeld, Jr.	224/259
3,326,432	6/1967	Banks et al.	224/258

3,507,424	4/1970	Burkins	224/257
3,583,600	6/1971	Scott	224/209 X
4,168,022	9/1979	Brewer	224/257

Primary Examiner—Steven M. Pollard

Attorney, Agent, or Firm—Ralph S. Branscomb

[57]

ABSTRACT

A load bearing strap is provided designed primarily for use with a guitar having a pair of straps, one of which passes over the left shoulder and through a back bracket down around the right to engage the bottom of the guitar, and the other passing from the bracket up over the right shoulder so that the end of the left strap and the right strap meet in front of the user to engage the suspension peg positioned near the top of the guitar body.

2 Claims, 3 Drawing Figures

